"Hey Siri, let's talk for real" – variability and flexibility in the perception of synthetic voices

PIME Research Project - Time schedule

	University College London, UK						Friedrich Schiller University Jena, Germany
	Month 1-2	Month 3-4	Month 5-6	Month 7-8	Month 9-10	Month 11-12	Month 13-14	Month 15-16	Month 17-18
Study 1: Variability in synthetic voice perception	Study design, Voice stimuli, Preregistration	Data collection	Data analysis	Manuscript preparation and submission	Potential revisions
Study 2: Perceptual Adaptation			Study design, Preregistration	Preparation of data collection	Data collection	Data analysis	Manuscript preparation and submission	Potential revisions
Study 3: Audiobook Intervention	Study design	Study design, Preregistration	Preparation of data collection	Data collection	Data collection	Data collection	Data analysis	Data analysis, Manuscript preparation	Submission, Potential revisions

Submitted by: Dr. Christine Nussbaum
Date of Submission: 12.08.2025
Time of Project: 1. October 2026 – 31. March 2028 (18 months)
Hosting Institutions: University College London, UK and Friedrich Schiller University Jena, Germany
Scientific Mentors: Prof. Dr. Carolyn McGettigan (London), Dr. Nadine Lavan (London), and Prof. Dr. Stefan R. Schweinberger (Jena)